Veterinarians play an essential role in protecting animal health, animal welfare and public health by providing a wide range of services.

This part of the website is in Czech language only and is referring to European Platform for the Responsible Use of Medicines in Animals (EPRUMA)
.